An airport is an aerodrome with extended facilities, mostly for commercial air transport. Airports often have facilities to store and maintain aircraft, and a control tower. An airport consists of a landing area, which comprises an aerially accessible open space including at least one operationally active surface such as a runway for a plane to take off or a helipad, and often includes adjacent ...

Over its long production history a wide range of radar types and subtypes have been fitted to variants of the Sukhoi Flanker fighter. Whilst some observers like to generalise the term 'Flanker radar' it is not unlike saying 'Pentium PC' - the range of power aperture product performance seen across these radars is greater than in any other tier one combat aircraft.

The Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) was a system of large computers and associated networking equipment that coordinated data from many radar sites and processed it to produce a single unified image of the airspace over a wide area. SAGE directed and controlled the NORAD response to a Soviet air attack, operating in this role from the late 1950s into the 1980s.
